South Warren Is State Bound!

South Warren Middle School's STLP!

South Warren Middle School's STLP did an outstanding job with their Fall Showcases and Winter Virtual Judging Projects. The STLP group at South Warren has more projects accepted to the annual State Competition than any other school in Kentucky! The STLP State Competition will be held, March 22, at Rupp Arena in Lexington, Kentucky! The group will spend the day at Rupp Arena displaying either their showcases, working on live events, or checking out the other school's projects. The many hours of work spent after school have certainly paid off. The sponsors of this program are Bryan Priddy and Kenney Hartman. Special thanks to Leslie Jackson for serving as our State Judge representing South Warren STLP. On behalf of South Warren STLP, we would like to thank all of the chaperones attending the competition.

Reagan Miller and Bailey Vandiver will also be continuing to the State Championship along with Morgan and Sydney. In the picture on the right, Reagan and Bailey are being judged for their showcase, SWMS Media Show. You can view more pictures from Fall Showcase at South Warren Middle School's iHigh page.

Thank you STLP Students for all of your Hard work!

The names listed in the picture above are names of the students who's projects are continuing to the State Competition. To view a student's work, click on their name on the picture and a link will pop up and the students work will appear. The only students work that do not have a link attached are the Live Competitions and Fall Showcases. I hope you enjoy the students work!

For Valentines Day a few of SWMS's Media Show students put together a Valentine Special. This show contained lot's of jokes on Valentines Day. Including, pick up lines, and SWMS's very own Bachelor! We tried to get lot's of students involved.

SOUTH WARREN VS. SPARTANS

On the first of February, South Warren Middle School's Media Show was split up into two different groups. "South Warren" was one team, and the other was the "Spartans." Each group did an outstanding job at strategizing and creating their own News Shows! The groups pieces were then viewed by the whole school. It was apparent that the groups worked harder and did better work knowing that there was a bit of competition and friendly rivalry between the groups. To introduce the different teams on the news show, the group included a clip on two students, Bailey Vandiver and Reagan Miller having a disagreement. The students then gathered around and chose their sides.

Meredith Wilson and Kaylee Searcy have been working with South Warren Middle School's Guidance Counselor, Mrs. Rhoades to promote Individual Learning Plan (ILP) to the 8th graders.

Meredith Wilson and Kaylee Searcy have been teaming together to create a video based on the College Prep Program used at South Warren Middle School. This will be used by our Guidance Counselor Mrs. Rhoades to encourage the eighth graders to begin to prepare for college. Individual Learning Plan (ILP) is a website where you can take a variety of quizzes and learn what type of jobs interest you most. This website is not only fun and interactive but extremely informative. It informs students on how they need to prepare for college whether it is financial, classes to take, or goals to be set. There are also ways to research colleges you are interested in, including the prices of attending each. The purpose is to tell the students that college is not as far away as it may seem. In a blink of an eye they will be filling out applications to colleges themselves. Making this video will encourage students to start preparing for college in an attention grabbing way. Thank you Meredith and Kaylee for creating this video for South Warren. Also, thanks to Mrs. Rhoades for caring enough to inform the student body on college and how much preparation it takes!
